Dedication

To Miss May H. Prentice for her years of inspiring service to Kent State students, past and present, the Senior Class of 1928 affectionately dedicates this number of the Chestnut Burr.

Foreword

We come to the close of the college year with the realization that we have had many pleasant and valuable experiences. As much as was available of the things worth while has been incorporated in this volume so that, in years to come, when we are perhaps widely separated, we may be able to live over again the happy days spent at Kent State. How successfully this has been done time alone can tell.

KENT STATE

Kent State College is set on a hill,—
To win to her door you must climb with a will,
And Kent State Hill is weariful long,—
But we trudge on together, a glad-hearted throng,
Climbing the hill at Kent.

Kent State Portal is open wide;
You've made the grade and you're safe inside;—
There's a clarion call to maiden and youth,
For now is the time you begin, in truth,
Climbing the hill at Kent.

For, hills of the earth or hills of the soul,
It is all the same, for they take their toll,
One of the body and one of the mind,
And the summit is hard to gain, we find,
Climbing the hill at Kent.

But keep a-stepping, and first you know,
You are up on top where the cool winds blow,
Below, farstretched, lies a wonderful view
And glad are the eyes and the heart of you
That you climbed the hill at Kent.

TEACHERS AS DISCOVERERS

Biographies of great men—geniuses and near geniuses in the various fields of human endeavor—give rise to marvel at the worth of such great souls and the value of the contribution that even one such genius may make to human well-being.

Teachers are charged with the duty of discovering as well as developing the native capacities of such individuals in the making. This responsibility should be regarded as a serious obligation and at the same time as a priceless opportunity.

During the current year some unusual talent has been discovered among our college students and our training school pupils. Graduates from Kent, if faithful to duty, may find in unexpected lives rare abilities and have part in the developing of these abilities. There is no experience in the life of a teacher that provides a finer recompense.

DEAN OF WOMEN

THE GREATEST LESSON

If one were to ask each 1928 graduate the question, "What is the most important lesson to be learned in life?" what do you think the answers would be? And then if we should ask each graduate, "Where did you learn the greatest lesson of life?" I wonder how many would reply that it had been taught in college.

Washington was once asked by Robert Morris what he should like to have as a gift from his friend, the financier of the Revolution. Morris was about to leave for Europe, and wished to bring back a token of friendship to the General. Washington replied that he should highly prize a watch, and further specified that he didn't care much about the case, or any ornamentation on the case, but that he did hope the inside would contain the best Geneva workmanship.

What was the thing of most importance? The works, of course. What is the most important lesson we can learn? Is it not that the "works" do count most in every one of us? What we ourselves are is of vital importance. Do you believe this? Has life proved this to you through your own experience, and the experience of others?

Sir Walter gave this same conclusion of his varied experiences. Have you not read how he talked earnestly and affectionately to Lockhardt, his son-in-law, during those last days at Abbotsford; and do you not remember his final message, "Lockhardt, be a good man,—nothing else will give you comfort when you come to lie here."

What we are. That is what counts in the end. That is why all modern educators are paying so much attention to the leisure hours of students. What we do in our "time off" shows what we are; and what we do in our "time off" is making us what we shall be to-morrow.

You are going forth, Graduates of 1928, to teach many a lesson, many a lesson well planned and well presented. But the greatest lesson you will ever teach will be yourself... You will teach it every hour of every day; and for it, you will have made your lesson plans throughout the years. Your Alma Mater rejoices to send forth so many this year who by their lives can teach lessons of real value to the boys and the girls of Ohio.

DEAN OF MEN

The most difficult task for the college student is that of maintaining a certain poise under new and changing conditions. Compared with this the class work is scarcely more than routine activity and while the making of high grades is certainly a fine and worthy ambition, the greatest achievement for any college student is to build up an idealism that will support and inspire him through all the years of his life. It requires courage to do this in the face of countless diversions but you will recall that of all virtues our dough-boys placed courage at the top. It also requires hard work and sacrifice.

This office was established and is conducted for the purpose of helping our men students to gain and hold this certain poise that will make it possible for them to think and act not only intelligently but also in the morally right way. In this type of service, every year is a successful one because there is never anything written on the negative side of the ledger. The only regret we all have is that the lack of time and energy makes it impossible to write more in on the positive side.

Our hopes are high for the future and our expectations as high as our hopes. New club rooms, new equipment, new students, new departments, new buildings and even new ideals are all before us. If we make the most of our opportunities there is every reason to believe that we shall have one of the best departments to be found anywhere.

We feel that it must be the aim of the college to encourage and direct the development of every man so that self expression may be as complete as possible. In addition to the sum total of skills, appreciations, and ideals the college must attempt to bring out qualities of leadership, initiative and strength of will. When we speak of force of character we mean power to live according to the fundamental principles upon which our civilization is built.

The modern conception of Education, defined as it is in terms of guidance, help, and inspiration provides the basis for our work, and it would seem that one must interpret duties, responsibilities and opportunities in terms of positive service rather than repression. Holding back flaming youth has in the past and will in the future end only in cowed subservience or rampant rebellion—both undesirable results. Guidance, on the other hand, directs the tremendous energies of youth toward constructive achievements, help gives the benefit of strength that comes out of experience, and inspiration fires the imagination to look toward more distant horizons.

DEPARTMENT OF ART

NINA S. HUMPHREY

In trying to make the work of the Art Department as useful as may be, we hold as our creed the words of a great art leader.

"If you accept art, it must be part of your daily lives, and the daily use of every man. It will be with us wherever we go, in the ancient city full of traditions of past time, in the newly cleared farm in America or the colonies, where no man has dwelt for traditions to gather round him; in the quiet country-side, as in the busy town, no place shall be without it.* * * It shall be no respecter of persons, but be shared by gentle and simple, learned and unlearned, and be as a language that all can understand."

—William Morris

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

J. T. JOHNSON, A. B.

The school laws of Ohio require that agriculture be taught in high schools and elementary schools; that elementary teachers who are examined by county superintendents, must take the examination in agriculture in order to teach; and that Kent College must maintain an adequate department for the training of teachers of Agriculture for the schools of the state. Because of these laws Kent State since it first opened its doors has maintained a Department of Agriculture for the complete and proper instruction of prospective teachers and other students who desire a broad and cultural education.

DEPARTMENT OF BIOLOGY

HARRY A. CUNNINGHAM, B. S., M. A.

The courses offered in the department of biology are of three types—vocational, cultural, and pre-vocational.

The vocational courses are designed for the direct training of students for the vocation of teaching biology. In these courses the activities of biology teachers that have been found to be frequent, important, and difficult are considered.

In the courses that are thought of as cultural in character the selection and organization of subject matter is made with the idea of giving the student who does not intend to continue work in the field of biology the assistance most needed in living a full, rational, and happy life. It is the purpose of the department, in these courses, to teach the big principles and generalizations of biology in such a way that they can, and will, be applied in meeting life's problems more successfully.

The advanced courses in the department are designed to be distinctly pre-vocational in character and are planned primarily for those who have definitely decided upon one of the vocations that is biological in nature.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION AND PSYCHOLOGY

D. W. PEARCE, A. B., M. A.

The Department of Education and Psychology covets the favor and assumes the responsibility of being one factor in the production of artistic teachers. This department attempts to give the prospective teacher, as far as possible under the conditions that obtain, a working knowledge and a practical grasp of teaching as a vocation. A philosophy and theory of education are absolutely necessary for vision, but, at the same time, care must be taken not to become visionary.

We desire that the period of adaptation of our teacher-product to the actual teaching position be made in the least possible amount of time and with a minimum of maladjustment. To help in attaining this end, we welcome and solicit suggestions and counsel from superintendents, principals and teachers engaged in service in the fields. Last, but not least, we desire that our teacher-product shall possess a high sense of professional honor; shall stand foursquare as a leader and guide of the young.

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH

EDGAR PACKARD, A. B.

During the present year Prof. Chester Satterfield of the English Department is on leave doing advanced work in Columbia University. Prof. William L. Mapel of Maryville, Missouri, has been added to the department; and he has had charge of publicity and publications, as well as of the Homecoming play. Prof. Thomas L. Davey, who has been in the department for two years, has moved into his new house, which stands directly across the street from Professor Satterfield's home. He has been completing some advanced work in Ohio State University. Professor Packard has published three booklets during the year. One is "An Outline of Shakespeare's Plays," another is "Bible Notes," and still another is a "Method of Advanced Reading." An interesting and helpful literary map of England has been added to the department.

DEPARTMENT OF FRENCH

BELLE ROWLAN, A. B., M. A.

The aim of this department is to offer an opportunity of mastering French for its own sake. Here is a chance to lengthen your vision, to open the doors of the unknown. By much reading from many authors you will be able to follow the thoughts of the masterminds of another great civilization. So you may form contacts with source material, and advance to research work in history, literature and science as well as add to the pleasure found in music, art and travel.

A key to a fuller life.

DEPARTMENT OF GEOGRAPHY AND GEOLOGY

DAVID OLSON, M. Sc., A. B.

In earlier times a man's area of relationships extended but little beyond his visual horizon. Today it is Earth encompassing. We depend on and contribute to all parts. In this enterprise we have girdled the earth with rails and wires. We have taken to waters and the air and indeed to the universal ether. We are straightening rivers, levelling mountains, extending shorelines, deepening bays and exploring the air. We fly over the plains and waters and have gone far in conquering physical force. Peace and good will depend on our understanding this new and wider sphere of interrelations. Here lies the field of geography.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

A. O. DEWEESE, B. S., M. D.

The Student Health Service of Kent State Normal College is organized upon the three following assumptions:

1. That educationally it is now generally recognized that Health is a fundamental factor in training and preparation for citizenship since the health of the boy and girl materially determines endurance, disposition, and attitude. Endurance, disposition, and attitude vitally effect happiness and efficiency.
2. That in the training and preparation for citizenship the school is as much responsible for the preservation and protection of the child's health, and the development of his physical efficiency and well-being as it is in the guidance and training of his mental attainments.
3. That an abundance of radiating health and physical well-being is of more importance to the classroom teacher than an individual in any other profession, since an example in well-being is an incentive of greatest importance in Health Education, and an unhealthy teacher cannot be in complete sympathy with the attitude and disposition of live, healthy, outdoor-minded boys and girls.

THE HISTORY AND SOCIAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

A. SELLEW ROBERTS, A. B., M. A., Ph. D.

History is the record of the development of man on this earth as told by his remains, his monuments, and his inscriptions. History with its sister sciences, Economics; Government and Sociology, well nigh covers the entire range of man's activity on this planet. Instead of being a dry and tedious list of facts and dates as many regard it it is as full of interest as life itself for it is the record of life. There are few if any subjects that have a greater bearing on the development of the student into a useful citizen and a worth while member of society than those given in this group. Likewise there are few subjects that require better preparation for successful teaching than these, and there are none that give a quicker response to the competent teacher. The student of the social sciences is not only the better equipped to be a good citizen but he has also found avenues for cultural development that are unsurpassed. The study of these sciences cannot be too highly encouraged.

DEPARTMENT OF HOME ECONOMICS

BERTHA NIXON, B. S.

The slogan of home economics is "Better Homes", and a home economics department must keep this primarily in view while, at the same time, preparing for the teaching profession.

How vital this question of Better Homes really is can be realized when we note that ninety per cent of all women become home makers. Every other occupation requires intensive training and preparation, and yet the profession of home maker,—the greatest of all,—has been generally neglected.

A home depends upon the physical, social and ethical standards of its members, just as it does upon the economic phases of daily life. The girl who has studied scientific home planning, the choice, preparation and serving of foods, the selection of appropriate clothing, and the general care and management of the home and family is bound to be a more successful home maker than the girl who lacks this background.

THE DEPARTMENT OF KINDERGARTEN-PRIMARY

G. HAZEL SWAN, B. S.

The new curricula, both three year and four year, for this department, were completed during the year of 1926 and 1927. In September, students were able to register in them. Thirteen courses are offered, eight of which have already been given.

The department will move to a new suite before the summer session.

Students specializing in this department will soon have the opportunity to join a Kindergarten-Primary Club. Membership in the club will enable the students to have many and varied experiences connected with the Kindergarten-Primary field and thus further enrich their college work. Some of the activities possible are social meetings for acquaintance; out of town visiting, as to the Nursery Schools of Cleveland; sharing of experiences among the various classes; attendance of a group at the International Kindergarten Meetings by invitation, a custom recently established by that organization; bringing speakers of reputation to us and sharing them at meetings with guests.

THE LIBRARY

MARGARET DUNBAR, B. L., B. L. S.

Just as "All roads lead to Rome" so all courses in the curriculum at Kent State College lead to the library. Every hour of the day students are in the library reading; enriching the textbook and classroom work by reading from authorities in the subjects they are studying. Not only are they reading on certain specified subjects but they are reading or selecting for home reading, books written by artist-authors; enriching their lives by using their leisure, for reading; their leisure, the most precious hours of life.

Although we are still in an outgrown room, new books have been added, upon recommendation of heads of various departments, until now we have a library of about thirty five thousand volumes, selected for our special needs. We look forward to housing the library in the new David Ladd Rockwell building, with its adequate space and its beauty, but this old library room with its informality, its associations, its easy access from other buildings, will long be remembered by many students and faculty.

DEPARTMENT OF MANUAL TRAINING

CLINTON S. VAN DEUSEN, M. E.

The aim of manual training is to develop in all children, irrespective of their future occupations, mainly through handwork; desirable attitudes toward materials, processes, values and workers and elementary abilities along many lines of manual activity. It is essentially learning by doing. It should be started in the kindergarten and continued through all grades into the high school. The manual abilities acquired in manual training should be used to express by doing, in motivating many other lines of school activity.

The department, having been largely crowded out of the power house on account of the expansion of the heating plant and finding but scant space in the basement of Merrill Hall on account of the delayed occupation of the new training school, has been working this year under difficulties. It has however been striving to prepare prospective teachers to carry to the children of Ohio the best possible in manual training.

DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS

RAYMOND E. MANCHESTER, A. B., M. A.

The Department of Mathematics at Kent State has been steadily growing not only in size but also in strength. A complete range of courses is now open to a student wishing to specialize in the subject with a guarantee that the work offered will be accepted at any other college or university. At present the spotlight is centered on the creation of a mathematics laboratory. This will provide added opportunity for research and individual study. Another dream we have is the establishment of a summer surveying camp. If this camp idea materializes it will make possible an opportunity for study under interesting conditions, and at the same time it will provide sufficient change of procedure to appeal to all those who enjoy outdoor life.

During the coming year it is the plan to present a much more comprehensive course in statistical methods and to organize an outfield discussion club made up of those teaching mathematics in this section of Ohio.

DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC

FLORENCE SUBLETTE, B. S., M. A.

Music has never been so popular at Kent State as it is today. Gradually our aims are being realized in that there are now six distinct divisions in the department. Besides the regular classes in Music Appreciation, Harmony, and Teaching of Music, there are courses in piano and organ, two Choruses, and Orchestra, a Male Quartette, and a Band. The outstanding feature of the year—Gilbert & Sullivan's comic opera. The Pirates of Penzance, was successfully carried through under the direction of Miss Sublette. Proceeds are used for furthering interests of the department and for purchasing needed equipment and Band instruments.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICAL SCIENCES

C. F. RUMOLD, A. B., LL. D.

The Department of Physical Sciences at Kent State Normal College offers in regular courses 102 term hours of work in Chemistry and 30 term hours in Physics. In addition, special courses are arranged for students who have the necessary preparation for profitably pursuing the work. Students who are working off pre-medical or engineering requirements here find exactly the work they need. The earlier courses are presented with emphasis on the method of teaching these fundamental sciences. It is intended to give in these courses the training in the presentation of the facts and principles which will equip one for successfully teaching these sciences in the high schools. Those students who are looking forward to careers in the applied sciences will find in the more advanced courses work equivalent to similar courses in the Colleges and the Universities. The laboratory facilities are unexcelled and much emphasis is given to individual laboratory work.

THE REGISTRAR

JOHN LEWIS BLAIR, A. B., M. A.

The office of the Registrar has in the past been thought of simply as a sort of academic bookkeeping department, concerned only with the grades and hours of credit of each student balanced against the formal requirements for graduation. Colleges are beginning to outgrow this conception, substituting for it the idea that the Registrar's office should be a clearing house and reference department for a large variety of information about the student.

In order to fulfill this enlarged function we plan a complete reorganization of the system of student records at Kent State. We will use new record cards containing important information about the student's personal history, his previous school record, his scholastic and his extra-curricular activities while in college, and his vocational record; assembled so as to make possible quick analysis and classification. With such a fund of information available to administrative officers and faculty members it is believed that the relationship between the school and the individual will be placed on a more human, personal, and therefore more efficient basis.

TRAINING DEPARTMENT

A. L. HEER, A. B., M. A., Ph. D.

The training department of a teachers' college is the testing ground of the products of the college. Here theory courses are given meaning through demonstration lessons; here the prospective teacher translates theory into practice; here the prospective teacher acquires some of those attitudes, abilities, and skills which it is hoped will help make a successful teacher; here an attempt is made to co-ordinate practice with the various theory courses in the college proper.

It has been transferred to its new home in the William A. Cluff Training School Building. The school is much more adequately housed and equipped than it has been in its old quarters. Yet all of this will mean nothing unless it will result in better educational opportunities for the boys and girls enrolled therein and unless it will provide better opportunities for the training of the teachers enrolled in the college. Toward these ends the faculty is ending every effort.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLICITY

WILLIAM L. MAPEL, B. J.

This department was established last fall, and is still in the infant stage. Its growth has been slow; slower, in fact, than it would have been under normal conditions. It is the hope of those in charge, however, that public information will soon be placed on its rightful pedestal and that sufficient time and money will be available for work in the department. During the school year several matters have been handled by the new department. Among them was the establishment of an alumni circular, mailed out quarterly. All journalistic activities of the school have been placed in this department, and instruction in newspaper method and theory has been placed in the curriculum.

DEPARTMENT OF TEACHER PLACEMENT AND EXTRA-MURAL ACTIVITIES

EMMET STOPHER, A. B., M. A.

The Department of Teacher-Placement and Extra-Mural Activities was reorganized in September, 1927. For a considerable part of the year the chief work of the department is to assist Kent State graduates and students to secure teaching positions for which they are qualified. The department recognizes that it can be permanently helpful to the college only on condition that it consider first the interests and welfare of the school children who are to be taught. Another duty of the department is to act as a coordinating agency in helping to bring to the school authorities of Northeastern Ohio the facilities of the college, and in return to bring to the college the suggestions and information from the field which will assist the institution in giving the best possible service to its students and to the public at large.

One of the services the school renders is through its Extension Department.

The correspondence work at the college is being continued and is one of the important ways in which the college gives help to those who are unable to be in residence.

The Senior Class of 1928 was organized at the earliest possible date and began to function immediately. A wide awake social committee was appointed with Frank Hanna as chairman. A series of social functions was planned and carried out to the delight of all present.

The gift committee also did an outstanding piece of work in choosing useful articles for the new library rather than purchasing something that would be used very infrequently and then by only a select few.

We have included in the senior group as many of the summer graduates of 1927 as had pictures taken before leaving Kent. This practice, we hope, will be carried out to a much greater extent in future years for surely the summer quarter and its students and graduates are as much a part of the college year and deserve a place in the Chestnut Burr the same as those in attendance during any of the other quarters.

The idea of classifying students in only four classes instead of six as has been done in previous years has been carried out in this book. We feel that this is a good plan or it would not have been used. However this has not been done with the intention of slighting the classes in the two-year courses but in conformity with the present trend toward a higher standard in the requirements for teachers. Sooner or later a great majority of the two-year graduates will be returning to complete the four-year course and to continue even beyond that so why not begin now to emphasize the more advanced work?

Organizations

INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

THE MEN'S UNION

The Men's Union is an organization including all the men of the college. The purpose of the organization is to promote the welfare of men students and to offer opportunity for student expression on all matters.

The activities of the Union include promotion of pep meetings, dinners, dances, dramatics, etc. and the maintenance of club rooms and rest rooms for men.

During the year three big events were arranged in addition to several informal pep meetings. It is a general policy to arrange one important event for each quarter.

The Union also sponsored a Kent State Band during the year 1927-28, providing capes and caps. With the start made this year we look forward to an excellent band organization next year.

One of the dreams is to arrange suitable club rooms for visiting Alumni. This would stimulate a more active interest in the college on the part of outfield men and would, of course, make better contacts with the High Schools of our district.

THE WOMEN'S LEAGUE OF KENT STATE COLLEGE

This organization shall promote matters of student life pertaining to the women of the college. It shall foster the spirit of unity and loyalty to Kent State Normal College. It shall be a medium by which the physical, the mental, and the spiritual standards of the college shall be kept high."

This is the purpose of the Women's League of Kent State College, of which all women students are active members, and all women members of the faculty are honorary members.

Many interesting activities have been sponsored by this organization in 1927-28. Among these, the New Year's Ball, the Father and Mother Week-End, the Arbor Day assembly program, the Big and Little Sister Teas, and the Sunset Dances have indicated a successful year.

THE OFF-CAMPUS WOMEN'S CLUB

An important women's organization is the Off-Campus Women's Club. More than one hundred women living off-campus enroll as members each term. The club has as its aim the creation of a spirit of co-operation and unity among its members, and the promotion of activities which serve to draw these members closer together.

Each term a Registration Tea is given at which all the new off-campus women are entertained. Activities during the year include parties and dances, the May breakfast, and the annual "Pop" entertainment.

At Homecoming time, an invitation to an Off-Campus Women's Club banquet is sent to every alumna member. At present there are more than twelve hundred alumnae members. The "old grads" come back, and exchange friendly gossip with the present students.

Miss Lucy Stadler proved to be an efficient president during the first half of the year. Miss Betty Hamilton then stepped in, and continued the work of the office until June.

Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. is the only religious organization on the campus. It holds a meeting every week, at which time either some one interested in the "Y" work speaks, or some members lead a discussion on some problem vital to the modern girl. One of the most interesting meetings of the year was the one when a missionary recently returned from China spoke of China and her students.

Besides these regular meetings, the "Y" has entertained the children at the Detention Home near Ravenna, sent boxes to the boys and girls at Caney Creek, in the mountains of Kentucky, and held its annual Colonial Ball on Washington's birthday.

The financial support of the organization comes through contributions of members, profits from the annual bazaar in December, and from an annual benefit picture.

There have been about seventy members in the academic year of 1927-1928.

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB

The Social Science Club offers an opportunity for students and faculty who are interested in History and Social Science to meet together to hear lectures and to discuss questions bearing on the field. A continuous and constant policy has been difficult to follow this year because of the changing personnel among the officers.

During the Spring Term Miss Beatrice Johnstone acted as General Chairman and several worth while meetings were held. Dr. Roberts, Head of the History Department, gave a constructive discussion of "What History Is." Mr. John B. Gillespie, Jr., painted a brilliant word picture of John Paul Jones, American Sailor. Mr. Russell Packard, from Cuyahoga Falls, gave an interesting talk.

FACULTY CLUBS

There are two faculty clubs at Kent State. The women of the faculty and the wives of men on the staff form the Faculty Women's Club, also known as the Faculty Dames. Miss May H. Prentice is the president of this organization, which meets monthly.

The meetings of the Faculty Women's Club are of two kinds. Some are of a business nature, but the majority are social gatherings: dinners, teas, musicals, and parties.

Twice during the school year the men are entertained by the Faculty Dames. Last fall there was a Hard-Times party, at which Mrs. Helen Bonsall and Dean Manchester won prizes for the hard-luck costumes. At the April meeting the program was furnished by the men. It consisted of a minstrel show and a number of games. A dinner at Lowry Hall preceded the entertainment.

The men of the staff form what is known as the Faculty Men's Club. This is an informal organization, meeting on the fourth Monday of each month throughout the eleven months of school. In order that there might be no cut-and-dried formality, the club did not elect officers at the beginning of the year. Instead a plan was inaugurated whereby the organization was governed by a rotating committee, of three, one member of which was elected each month.

The meetings of the organization are held in connection with a dinner at Lowry Hall. Usually the program is divided into three parts: fun, non-shop talk, and shop talk. Since January the organization has been working on a program for "A Greater College at Kent." Papers have been delivered by about a dozen members on several phases of proposed development, and a definite program is under way.

THE PANHELLENIC ASSOCIATION

The Kent State Panhellenic Association was founded November 17, 1926. At the present time it is composed of three representatives from each of the nine sororities on the campus. This college organization is a member of the National Panhellenic Association of Educational Sororities. Although still young, the Association has had a helpful influence upon all by encouraging each sorority to take an active interest in college activities for the common good.

The regular meeting is held the second Wednesday of each month. A scholarship cup was purchased by the Panhellenic of 1926-1927. This cup is presented each year to the sorority achieving the highest average in scholarship.

The adopted slogan of Kent State's Panhellenic Association is, "All for One and One for All."

KENT STATE COUNCIL

Kent State Council has carried on its regular work this year, and in addition has undertaken some new lines of activity.

In response to a general demand from the upperclassmen, freshman initiation was approved and supervised by the council. Color was certainly in evidence with the wearing of the green. Then in December came the bonfire with flames reaching up to the heavens; and into these flames ribbons and caps were consigned to oblivion. A night never to be forgotten!

The second new activity sponsored by the council was the College Red Cross Roll Call. One hundred dollars was collected—a good beginning.

The council also selected the candidates to represent Kent State at the great quadrennial conference of Christian students, in Detroit, in December.

Kent State Council fully justifies its existence by being a sufficiently pliable organization to work for the college in response to ever changing demands on the campus.

LOWRY HALL

There's a hall at Kent State College,

From which we soon must roam;

It is full of fun and knowledge,

And it is our second home.

At first, we have the freshmen dear,

Who just don't seem to fit;

The things so vague to them appear.

They often wish to quit.

The sophomores, quit the other way:—

They have a running start.

Wise Fools, the whole world they would sway,

And to them t'would be a lark.

The juniors, diligent and grave,

Return with books galore;

All knowledge which their heads can't save,

In notebooks it is stored.

Seniors now they are at last,

And reek with sentimentality.

They are simply in another caste

When it comes to high mentality.

Closed are the gates to Lowry,

Her post lights now are dimmed:

Gone are the days so flowery,

And the girls so full of vim.

Goodby, dear Kent State College,

Goodby, dear Lowry Hall,

Goodby, to all you comrades,

We hear our duty call.

THELMA BOND

DOROTHY CLARK

AGNES QUINLAN

MOULTON HALL

The last building on the driveway, as one leaves the campus, is Moulton Hall. It is here that approximately one hundred girls live and enjoy every detail of college life—the work as well as the play. To help them enjoy their play they have a piano and a radio in the large music room, which other organizations also enjoy.

The Moulton girls of 1927-1928 have made the foyer more attractive by adding gay colored cushions, a wrought-iron log basket, and magazine racks. The pride of the year is the Moulton Hall Banner in scarlet and gray.

Although Moulton has in her ranks girls from Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana, Michigan, and Pennsylvania, they all can truthfully sing:

"Oh when the girls of Moulton fall in line,
We're going to have a jolly, good old time;
And with a full-fledged spirit, yell, yell, yell,
For the dear old dorm we love so well."

VELVET CURTAIN PLAYERS

The third season for the Velvet Curtain players proved to be one of the greatest from the standpoint of both organization and production.

The outstanding Play of the year was perhaps the presentation of, "The Lovliest Thing," which was given at the close of the fall quarter.

It is the hope of the organization to promote more Assembly programs during the coming year.

Professor William L. Mapel has been faculty-advisor of the club for the 1927-28 season.

Two dramatic productions in addition to the annual Homecoming play were presented during the year 1927 at Kent State by student talent. Both were directed by Prof. William L. Mapel of the English department.

"The Loveliest Thing," a Christmas play, was presented at the last assembly program before Christmas vacation.

"Suppressed Desires," a comedy in two acts, was presented as a part of the Off Campus Women's Club's annual "Pop" entertainment.

CHI PI

The purpose of the Chi Pi, the honorary journalistic fraternity of Kent State College is to promote interest in all publications sponsored by the college, through the English department.

Students having who have made outstanding contributions to literary work of the college are elected to membership by the active members of the fraternity.

The organization was founded in February 1927.

WOMEN'S CHORUS

The Women's Chorus was organized five years ago with approximately twenty members, for entertainment and study. Practices were held after school and those came who were interested. Today a regular course is offered for which credit is given, with over sixty enrolled. Much of the work during the year has been spent in the production of the Pirates of Penzance and Assembly and Commencement programs.

THE MEN'S GLEE CLUB

The organization of the Men's Glee Club reached its greatest height when representative members decided that a Kent State College Male Quartette would help fill the needs of the College, as well as provide entertainment for themselves. They have furnished music on several occasions for Assembly programs. They have also taken frequent trips to towns throughout this section, singing on High School Commencement programs, and similar occasions. It is hoped that this will become a permanent element in the program of the Music Department at Kent State College.

THE ORCHESTRA

The Orchestra is the oldest musical organization on the Campus. Started nearly six years ago with about ten members, it has grown until now it is composed of twenty members with Miss Florence Sublette as Director. They have given programs for assemblies and dinner concerts at Lowry Hall, besides playing the overtures for the Opera, "The Pirates of Penzance." The compositions used vary from light opera to modern popular music. It is hoped that this organization will continue to progress as it has in the past.

THE PIRATES OF PENZANCE

"The Pirates of Penzance," a comic opera in two acts by Gilbert and Sullivan, was the leading achievement of the year by the combined Glee Clubs of the College.

Under the direction of Miss Florence M. Sublette, head of the music department, the opera proved to be one of the leading entertainments held in the college auditorium during the college year of 1927-28.

THE 1927 SEASON

A study of the summaries of Kent State's football history shows that the 1927 team held its opponents to the smallest number of points scored on any Kent State football team during a season.

Kent's defensive play proved to be successful during the entire season. Opposing teams were held to low scores for a total of only 79 points in the seven games played.

"Cocky" Kilbourne, freshman fullback, was lauded by many of the visiting coaches as one of the best defensive backs that they had encountered during the season.

Offensive playing seemed a jinx for the Wagonerites. They succeeded in scoring in only two games for a total of 25 points. Several times during the season they had the ball on the 1-yard line, 1-foot line, and on one occasion, during the Edinboro game, on the 1-inch line, but were unable to carry the ball over for the touchdown which would have made a victory possible had the extra point been scored.

The prospects for next year are favorable. Of the fourteen letter men on this year's squad only three, D. Menough, C. Davis, and Chernin, will be minus from the squad for next season.

Jake Searl, junior, and two letter man in football, has been elected captain of the 1928 team.

The letter men for this year are; Chernin, Curtiss, Searl, D. Menough, W. Fisher, Kelso, H. Dunlavy, A. Davis, C. Davis, L. Hinkle, W. McCaslin, Kilbourne, C. Hinkle and manager Claude Vair.

It must be noted that last year Kent State played a schedule of hard games. There were no set-ups. Such will be the case in the future if Coach Wagoner and Mr. Davey have their way. It is the hope of those in charge of athletics at the college to eventually have nothing but conference games on the schedule.

It is likely that Kent State, now a provisional conference member, will in the near future win a place in the athletic body. Then Kent Staters will have an opportunity to see the best teams in this section of the country in action. Until that time, those in charge are doing all possible to book strong opponents for the Golden Flashes.

School spirit was on a higher plane last fall than ever before at Kent. The student body loyally supported its team, and the attendance at all games was better than ever in the past. A practice of raising the Kent State colors before each game was inaugurated at the beginning of the season. Dean Manchester was in charge of this bit of tradition building, and the ceremony became one of the regular events on the program at each game.

Several enterprising students started a band organization during the football season. Although this effort was not as auspicious as it might have been, the seed was sown, and indications are that there will be a strong band next year.

A number of men students of the college started a pep organization toward the end of the football season. This group, continuing through the basketball season, furnished an abundance of rooting for the home team and stimulated the rest of the students to renewed cheering effort.

The opposition furnished by Kenyon, Mount Union, Ashland, Bliss, and Slippery Rock colleges was no small task to meet. However, the team gave its best at all times and displayed a fine spirit whether winning or losing.

"Dud" Vair, Captain, played a remarkable brand of ball, considering the handicap of a badly injured hip that would not respond to treatment. Such gameness was an inspiration to his teammates and basketball loving fans.

Claude Graber, junior, was elected captain of the 1928-29 cagers. This is "Grabs" second captaincy at Kent; he was the 1927 baseball leader.

The individual honors for this season go to Frank Curtiss, forward and most constant point-getter for the team.

Curtiss amassed 95 points in the thirteen games played. Had he not suffered an injured knee his total would no doubt have passed the century mark.

THE FRESHMAN TEAM

Kent State had its first freshman basketball team this year. Robert Kelso, a member of Mr. Altmann's coaching class, was placed in charge of the yearlings, and he developed a consistent machine. His men played about a dozen games and their record for the season was better than 500 per cent.

Several times during the season members of the freshman team became so good that they were drafted to the Varsity. This demonstrated the feasibility of such an undertaking, and it is likely that it will become an annual practice.

Virtually all members of the freshman team will be out for the Kent State Varsity next year. They will have had the year's experience which otherwise would have been denied them.

BASEBALL

BASEBALL THIS SPRING

Although only two men of last year's team were available for the opening game with Western Reserve, Coach Wagoner rounded into shape a formable looking baseball machine.

Claude Graber, catcher and Frank Curtiss, center fielder, veterans of the squad were fixtures at their favorite positions. "Jake" Searl and Payne look like "league stuff" on first and third base respectively. Archie Davis, Fisher, Broz, Sapp and Glasgow were other infielders fighting for places.

There was a wealth of good material in the "gardens." The "ball hawk," Curtiss was flanked by two capable fielders selected from a group composed of Castor, Phillips, Sickman, and Mallet.

The three best bets for pitching duty were Harland Sickman, Les Scarr, and Byrne. The slab staff was strengthened considerable when Gerber "an old head" reported at the mid-spring term.

The squad in its practices showed a fine brand of "heads-up" ball." What they would do under fire was only a prediction. After all the games are won on the diamond and not on a scribes typewriter.

Robert Kelso is manager of the team.

CAPT. DUNLAVY

For the first time in her history the college was represented on the mat by a wrestling team in 1928. The team started spontaneously. Some of the boys were exercising with Dr. Roberts of the History Department, and they asked him to organize and coach a team.

The team had two meets, both with Western Reserve University. The meet on March 24 was in Wills gymnasium and resulted in a victory for Kent by the score of 20 to 13. Before the meet the team elected Dunlavy as captain for the year. He lived up to his responsibilities in fine style by pinning his opponent neatly and thereby contributing 5 points to the victory. Arnett, A. Davis, and Crow helped swell the total by securing falls over their opponents. Our victory was all the more welcome because it was entirely unexpected, most of all by our opponents.

The next Saturday when we went to Cleveland for the return meet we met a team that was sadder and wiser. After a hard struggle in which we got two falls against one for them, we lost the meet 14 to 10 through decisions in the other bouts.

All things considered the season was a success. After the meet the team elected A. Davis captain for next season. Our chances are bright. To be sure we lost C. Davis and Captain Dunlavy by graduation, and their places will be hard to fill, but we have Arnett, Captain-elect Davis, Stratton, Barry, Crow, and Graber as nucleus for another year.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

EVELYN LONG

HENRIETTA STRAYER

Evelyn "Ev" Long, General of the Musketeers, marched her team straight ahead. The spirit, which she instilled, is—"no retreat."

Henrietta "Hank" Strayer, Admiral of the Buccaneers, lead her Pirates through a successful season. "Hank's" leading ability is exceptional. She inspired every Bucc to play and play hard.

Two years ago two athletic organizations sprang up at Kent State to promote sports among women students. They were known as the Buccaneers and Musketeers.

During the first year enthusiasm ran high. Last year the Buccaneers under the leadership of Edna Tarr, won the beautiful bronze plaque which is now displayed near the distribution desk in the library. This plaque was given by the athletic department to the team that won the most points during the year.

Points were given in various sports. These points, together with the monthly athletic meets of the two organizations, determined the winner.

This year there has been even greater rivalry than last. The Musketeers, determined to wrest the victory trophy from their rivals, put up many royal scraps. The first meet was won by the Musketeers under the leadership of "Ev" Long, general, but the Buccaneers, with "Hank" Strayer, admiral, as leader, won the next three.

In the line of sports, soccer, basketball, volley ball, and tennis, seem to be favorites. The two organizations divided honors in basketball and volley ball. The Buccaneers won the basketball championship, while the Musketeers copped first honors in volley ball.

Baseball and field hockey were the most popular spring team sports. Archery and tennis bid for popularity in the individual activities.

The last big meet of the year was held May 7, on Rockwell field. It took the form of a field day and barbeque. Field events furnished most of the athletic program. Singing and "eats" also had a prominent part.

The high spot of the year came on "Recognition Day," the day set aside to honor winners of "K's" in both inter-collegiate athletics and intra-mural activities. At this time, winners of K's were given long sought and hard earned recognition.

Although there were many who did not reach the goal, they have worked hard and have willingly backed their respective leaders. Many of these will return next year to add new points, and to win the coveted honor.

Many loyal girls were graduated and lost to the organization. These co-eds leave wishing the greatest of success to their Alma Mater's Buccaneers and Musketeers and their program of womens athletics.

Long may the emblems of the Buccaneers and Musketeers wave in the halls and on the campus of Kent State!

SWIMMING

Since the completion of the pool, swimming has been a leading activity among Kent State co-eds. This was clearly demonstrated at the swimming meet held between the Buccaneers and Musketeers during the winter term. In this meet the Bucs upset the dope for the Muskies were slated to win because of their victory last year.

Mrs. Irwin, swimming instructor; Jean Rothwell, captain of the Musketeers; and Millie Green, captain of the Buccaneers, were in charge of the meet. The events scheduled included challenges, races, diving, under-water swimming, and swimming for form.

"Open pool" at 4 o'clock each day also provides a popular form of recreation for Kent State's Gertrude Erderles.

"No, but I was put out."

"Doctor, is it better to lie on the right side or on the left?"

"Young lady, if you're in the right side it isn't necessary to lie at all."

Doctor: "Well, young lady, where do you feel pain?"

Patient: "Oh, doctor, all over. I can hardly lift my arms over my head and it's the same with my legs."

A FEW NEW SONGS

The co-ed flappers new lip stick song is "Kiss and Make-up."

"My Blue Heaven" is just another way of singing "Home Sweet Home."

The song "Down By The Riverside" seems to be the most popular song in school.

Al: "Have you heard the Hurdling song?"

Bert: "No, what is it?"

Al: "I can't get over a girl like you."

The new U-Drive-It song: "Though you belong to somebody else, tonight you belong to me."

POLLUTED POLITICS MADE OVER

It was an important meeting. The future of one of the outstanding clubs on the campus was at stake. Were the politicians of the Campus political dungeon to rule the destinies of the Volaceous Curtail Klub and by the practice of sacrificing the club's welfare to selfish corruption steer it on the rocks?

No! This must not be. The Krum Mit Krusts should never gain control! Something must be done to prevent, but what? The politicians had a majority lined up to control the pending election. True, they expressed willingness to share honors, but even partial control might corrupt.

No, every vestige of control must be wrested from their grasp! But how? Fight fire with fire, that's how! Import an outsider to head the organizations! Elect a non-member to the presidency! Rotate the chairmanship! Anything to save the ship!

And the ship was saved—everything is at peace. The club has prospered, but hasn't held a meeting for six months or more. It has been active—to the extent of getting space in the annual. After this bit of strenuous piece of work it deserves rest, and rest it undoubtedly will.

Long live the Volaceous Curtail Klub! May the fiery practices of the Sordid Twin Grandmas and the Dozen Phor Swietzer's, when they joined forces to down corruption with corruption, long be remembered and lauded!

Doctor: "I can't prescribe you whiskey unless I'm sure that you need it."

"That is a difficult question," replied the modern girl, removing his glasses and wiping them reflectively. I suppose however, that you refer to my chronological age which is 8. That is so old fashion: that I seldom think of it any more."

What is Davey Tree Surgery Service?

What will Davey Tree Surgeons do for you?

First of all, Davey Tree Surgeons diagnose each case to determine what is wrong, if anything. They are especially trained in the diagnosis of tree troubles.

If a tree is starving, they feed it in the right way, with the right food elements, at the right time.

If a tree is afflicted with any disease or insect enemies for which there is any known control they treat it with the right spray mixture, in the right way at the right time, and give it such other attention as conditions warrant.

If a tree has dead limbs, or a dying top, or interfering branches, they prune it scientifically and properly treat the wounds, and give it any other attention that its condition requires, such as appropriate feeding.

If a tree has a splitting crotch or is otherwise structurally weak, they brace it mechanically by proved Davey methods, to protect it against the tremendous force of the winds.

If a tree has girdling roots that are slowly strangling it, they remove the cause and properly treat the wounds, and then feed it to build up its vitality.

If a tree has decaying cavities that are slowly and progressively destroying it, they treat it by proved Davey methods, unless it is too far gone to save.

If any of the other numerous tree troubles are in evidence, they apply proper remedies as far as humanly possible.

All of this is done with remarkable skill and diligence and with devotion to the policies of the Davey Company and the ethics of their profession. They will please and satisfy you. Wire or write to
